My career goal is to become a specialist in the field of building User Interfaces and the development of the front-end layer.

Currently I code responsive websites and learn new technologies intensively. In my work, if I have an influence on it, I put great emphasis on usability and the visual aspect.

In my previous job - as a photographer - I developed my aesthetic and social competences, and gained a lot of experience in the field of customer service.

I am a person who eagerly learns and focuses on personal development. I am motivated and well organized. I can act alone or as a team member.
